Subject: Aerojet Rocketdyne Enterprise Quality Initiatives – Source Strategy, Quality Requirements Flowdown (Qnotes), and Supplier Rating System (SRS)

Dear Supplier:

We are pleased to announce several process improvements enterprise wide; details of the changes are as follows:

- The AR Supplier Portal Gateway "ASIRS" Automated Source Inspection Request System" has been modified to accept supplier requests for sourcing. When your terms and conditions specify source inspection (F03, Q100, Q203 or Q203C) you will be able to schedule your source call via this new system. Once you have completed your request, the appropriate Aerojet Rocketdyne Supplier Quality representative will be automatically notified via the scheduling system and you will receive system emails as to the status of your request. In addition, if the timing of your requested source changes, you will have the capability to cancel or reschedule the source request. It is requested that your company start using the system on or before June 1st. This will enable us to do a better job of supporting your needs by more effectively resource loading our staff. An emergency Source Inspection hotline will be available during this transition at (818) 586-2790.
- Quality Clauses commonly referred to as "Qnotes" have been consolidated and will be released to the SupplierNet website in incremental block releases starting in April 2015 over this coming year. The "Qnotes" will start with a "Q" numbering scheme and will deliver the same requirements to the extent possible. Purchase orders with existing line items already released will not be modified unless mutually agreed upon by the Buyer and your company. If you need help with older revisions for Quality Notes, please contact your Buyer.
- A consolidated Supplier Rating System has been developed and will be released in the June/July timeframe for you to review your company performance on the AR Supplier Portal. If your company is not registered for the AR Supplier Portal Gateway, please use the link below to get registered by June 1, 2015: <http://www.rocketdynesuppliers.com/documents/SCM-AF044.doc>. You may register as many of your personnel as you need on the system at no cost to you. Training is also available on line within the Supplier Portal Gateway.

We appreciate your support as we transition to enterprise processes. If you have any questions about the details of these enhancements, please contact Margaret Lunsford, Quality Project Manager at (818-586-1418).

Sincerely,
